

Registration: Teaching the Prevention of Dating Violence, Domestic Abuse, Sexual Harassment, Sexual Violence, and Other Violent Crimes Against Students

This hands-on, interactive, and engaging seminar teaches a curriculum empirically proven to increase student safety and of practical value to all teachers. The course covers relevant aspects of the Family Life Education Guidelines and Standard of Learning Objectives for Virginia Public Schools, is based on the latest pedagogical, criminological, and social psychological research, and has been extensively tested on students and parents.

Courses of this nature have been empirically proven to dramatically change student behavior and have reduced rape by 1/2 and attempted rape by 2/3. The course includes simple self-protection and escape techniques that virtually any adult or school age child can use.
